Training Program on Collaboration Skills for Problem-Solving

COD campus
Hyderabad

July
22-24, 2024

Program Director
Prof. Lalitha Akundi

Collaborative problem solving is increasingly recognized as an important 21st century skill as it has several advantages over individual problem solving as the load can be shared, a variety of perspectives and viewpoints can emanate and team members can stimulate one another, in turn enhancing the creativity and quality of solutions. Yet collaboration, if managed poorly, can also quickly lead to communication issues, interpersonal conflict and inefficiencies. Unfortunately, most organizations and management are not equipped to support and develop high performing teams. It is therefore important that employees are trained to develop the skills needed to engage in successful collaborative problem solving.

Objective of the Program:

This experiential training program aims at developing essential mind-set and skills necessary for Workplace problem solving by maximizing the Collaborative Efforts.

Contents:

- ❑ What Why and How of Collaboration
- ❑ 6 Steps of Collaborative Problem Solving
- ❑ Experiential Way of Problem Solving as a Team
- ❑ Effective Management of Conflict in Group
- ❑ Finding Creative and Win-Win Solutions

Who can Participate?

The program is meant for middle and junior level executives of Public Sector, Private Sector and Government Organizations.

Solving problems should be a joy, a welcome challenge to our creativity.

- DEEPAK CHOPRA
